Flu Season Arrives Early: What Employers Need to Know

This could be a severe flu season. How do we know? Out of all doctor visits, the share of people going in for flu-like symptoms is higher now than during any October of the previous five years. Nine states, including New York and Texas, are at high levels of flu; during this time in 2019 (the last flu season before the pandemic), only one was. And this comes as COVID-19 continues to spread and evolve.

Voting Location Information

Some voting locations have been changed due to Hurricane Ian. For information about voting locations (early voting and Election Day) in Charlotte County, visit www.soecharlottecountyfl.gov.

County Allows Trailers, RVs For Displaced Residents

The Charlotte County Commission voted to suspend the county code restricting living in recreational vehicles or trailers on developed residential lots. The code suspension will allow residents who have been displaced by Hurricane Ian to reside in a trailer or recreational vehicle for up to two years from Nov. 4, 2022 to Nov. 3, 2024. The County will issue guidance to assist residents in complying with regulations on discharge of waste, temporary connection to utilities and other regulations as needed.
